

Please! No cellular phone use on airborne aircraft. Flying is bad enough these days with added time for security checks, air traffic delays, airline dealys due to decreased staffing and crowding on the aircraft. I am a frequent user of cell phones in a private setting. I do not wish to be annoyed by loud chit chat. If someone is important enough that they need to stay in contact with someone during a flight, they should fly on private aircraft. An alternate might be the use of non-voice or email devices that involve a laptop or hand held device. NO VOICE DEVICES!
